HOLIDAYS RESULT IN ACCIDENTS AND COURT ACTIVITIES

Many Crashes—Drivers
Arrested and Tried.

Many accidents by automobile and trolley marked the week-end holiday. In the city court today fines and continuances of those under arrest were made.

Today's accidents resulted in one woman being placed under arrest for reckless driving when Edda E. Wirgin, 26 State street, Westport, struck William O'Flaherty, a resident of 561 Park avenue, at 4:56 a. m. as he attempted to cross State street.

O'Flaherty is alleged by the driver to have stepped directly in front of her car. He was knocked down and the forward wheels are said to have passed over his body. Besides serious injury to his head which may have resulted in a fracture of the skull, he has a broken right leg and a broken thigh. At St. Vincent's hospital he is said to be in a serious condition. The case was nolleed in court this morning but owing to the victim's injuries a continuance was granted until July 3.

Leon Talbair, residing at 1,248 Railroad avenue, fell from a moving trolley car at State street and Hancock street last night. His injuries were slight and were treated by an emergency surgeon.

Miss Margaret McTaggart, 530 East Main street, applied at the Emergency hospital for treatment of abrasions on her right leg and a severe bruised eye. She was under the belief that she had been pushed off a crowded car.

A collision at East Main street and Boston avenue yesterday morning resulted in some damage to the cars of Walter Marsden, 450 Warren street, and Anson Petro, 538 Park avenue. As both men said the occurrence was purely accidental, no arrests were made.

Fred L. Lewis, chauffeur on a jitney bus which struck a little child on upper Fairfield avenue, circus day, was fined $10 and costs in the city court this morning.

Leon Pabac, 1348 Railroad avenue, was knocked down by a trolley car last night. He is resting comfortably at St. Vincent's hospital. No arrests were made.

Because he did not see a rope that had been stretched across Courtland street, James Dinicola, 130 Clarence street, received a laceration of the forehead yesterday when the windshield of his car was broken by the rope. Treatment was given at the Emergency hospital.

PRINCELY CHECK IS GIVEN TO COLLECTOR SMITH FOR TAXES

Bridgeport Land & Title
Co.'s Payment Made Today is $25,280.83.

Included among the checks received by Tax Collector Smith today was that of the Bridgeport Land & Title Co. for $25,280.83. This amount represents the total assessment for which this company is responsible to the city, for not only the taxes on property located in various parts of the town, owned by itself, but also for its large clientele.

A great many realty owners not only place their entire properties in the hands of this corporation for the collection of rents and sales, but the management of all details pertaining to the same, including the payment of taxes, assessments for improvements, repairs to buildings, and all similar matters.

The company itself is a large realty owner, and a good portion of the taxes paid today was on its own property.

Since moving into the new building at 875 Main street, the Title company has opened a new department in addition to the many other lines, including insurance of all descriptions, the rental and sale of property, searching and guaranteeing titles, and is now engaged in selling guaranteed mortgages under an amendment to its charter granted at the last session of the legislature.

Photoplay Books!

Reading a story is twice as enjoyable, after one has seen it pictured by a favorite player.

This is a book week for folks who enjoy the "movies."

Have you any idea how many delightful photoplays are constructed from stories? Eight out of ten is a reasonable estimate. Generally, the other two of the ten have been written into books after coring their success as plays.

Photoplay books are alive with interest. There is action in them. They have the touch of life and of love; things move swiftly in them. They are the most enjoyable sort of reading, for those who read in search of enjoyment.

Some are illustrated with reproductions of scenes from the photoplays. And how the characters stand out in them—Mary Pickford, Marguerite Clark, Beatriz Michelena, Max Figman, Lolita Robertson; all the stars of the "movie" world!

When the play has been seen and enjoyed, when action has been followed to its end;—then one can enjoy it all over again in the reading of the book.

Pick from these the play you like best. Then read and see how enjoyable the story is:—
